Executive Summary

The second and third project workshops were again held in Berlin at the Helmholtz Information & Data Science Academy (HIDA). The second workshop was conducted over two half-day sessions on February 11th and 12th, 2025. The third workshop took place on March 17th, 2025, as a full-day meeting, just prior to the ELLIS workshop on FM in Science. A fourth in-person meeting is scheduled for fall 2025 in Dresden-Rossendorf.

Results

The two workshops covered a wide range of topics, including individual updates from each project partner, progress on conducting the test runs, and in-depth discussions on data, particularly the time dimension of data. Other key topics included organizing contributions to conferences, planning for the collaborative writing of scientific papers, organizing a special issue, and reviewing the project timeline. The project website and the organization of the annual report to Helmholtz were also addressed. Additionally, all downstream tasks were discussed, and the status of each deliverable was reviewed, with more detailed descriptions provided.

The workshop format consisted of short presentations by participants, complemented by blocks of moderated open discussions. In the second workshop, break-out sessions were introduced as a new format. In conclusion, the meetings significantly advanced the project's progress, with the partners forming a strong, collaborative team.
